

Dustin Henderson

Dustin is a 14-year old high school freshman attending Hawkins High in the small town of Hawkins, Indiana. An only child, he's known by his friends as a "momma's boy" and is affectionately nicknamed "Dusty" by his mother. He's known as a precocious, witty and lovable young man by the local residents.

He loves reading comic books like the X-Men and novels like the Harry Potter series while eating his favourite food, chocolate pudding. He also loves to binge watch shows on Netflix. The last show he binge watched was Stranger Things Season 2.

He's insecure about his lisp and lack of adult teeth caused by a rare condition known as cleidocranial dysplasia because he was bullied about it growing up.

He has a small tight-knit group of friends that do everything together like hang out after school at the local arcade or playing Dungeons and Dragons together at his friend Mike's house.

He also has a close brotherly relationship with a senior at his high school, Steve Harrington, after Steve babysat Dustin and his friends in middle school.

His favourite classes are drama, math and science. He also has a budding interest in software development. He taught himself Java, C#, and Python in middle school. He recently created a virtual Dungeons and Dragons dice roll program as a side project.

Despite his many interests in science and technology, he's an aspiring actor who'd like to make it big in Hollywood. He's also considered majoring in Software Engineering in University if his acting career doesn't take off.

He's a current member of the Hawkins A.V. Club along with his group of friends. They love tinkering with and discussing the latest technology together.

His favourite class is Mr. Clarke's morning science class but is self-conscious about having to take attendance because of his lisp. On top of that, his parents always think he's late for class because he rushes to get ready for school every morning. He wishes there was an easy way to prove to them that he always makes it on time.

He doesn't always find every one of Mr. Clarke's lectures engaging and wishes there was an easier way of giving Mr. Clarke feedback without hurting his feelings or looking like a teacher's pet.

Scott Clarke

Scott is a 33 year old science teacher at Hawkins High. He's also the club advisor for the Hawkins A.V. club and enjoys mentoring Dustin and his friends.

He's known as an easy-going, supportive, smart, friendly and caring person and teacher by his students, faculty and friends..

He encourages his students to ask questions during and after class and always does his best to answer their questions and foster their curiosity.

His signature saying is telling his students to "open the curiosity door" by not being afraid to ask questions and pursue their interests.

He loves watching movies, especially sci fi and horror. Some of his favourite movies are Interstellar and The Thing.

On weekends, he likes to go down to the local bar to hang out and drink with his friends including the local sheriff, Jim Hopper.

His hobbies include programming and tinkering with the latest technology.

Despite fierce backlash around his facial hair, he works hard to groom and maintain his signature moustache.

He dislikes having to take attendance for class since he feels it cuts into his lecture time. He'd also appreciate an easy way to track his students' attendance since he regularly forgets if someone was late or absent.

Since he studied education (double major with biology) at University he's always looking for ways to improve his teaching. To that end, he'd like to receive more feedback from his students so he can create more personalized and engaging lectures to spark their interest in learning.
